GRANGEVILLE, Idaho (AP) ...

... Amon said activists fully hiked 85 miles into their central Idaho encampment to launch the third year of their protests. “Our goal this year, as it was last year, is simply to bring people here and show them what’s happening, teach them the history of the place, the politics of the place and let them draw their own conclusions as to what they should or should not do in order to protect it,” Amon said...

Earth First sets up Idaho protest camp

Earth First! has set up a protest camp in Idaho, where the group is protesting against the proposed expansion of the Snake River dam project. The camp is located near the dam site and is expected to last for several weeks.

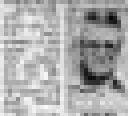

Williams bill could use some common sense, group thinks

A group of environmentalists has expressed concern over a proposed bill by Representative Williams. They believe the bill lacks common sense and could have negative impacts on the environment.
